

Off-The-Job Safety Program

From the book Safety and Health Management Planning
by James P. Kohn and Theodore S. Ferry

Chapter 30 - Off-The-Job Safety by John Myre

Copyright 1999 by Government Institutes
(Updated to reflect current statistics)

Permission has been granted by the publisher to print this chapter

Table of Contents

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| I Introduction   | 1  |
| II Why Everyone Should Be Interested                           | 1  |
| Benefits To The Safety Professional .....                             | 1         |
| Financial Benefits To The Organization .....                          | 2         |
| Other Benefits.....   | 2         |
| Benefits To The Employee.....   | 2         |
| Table 1: The Human Costs of Accidents.....                            | 2         |
| More Reasons To Have A 24-Hour Safety Attitude .....                  | 3         |
| III Overcoming The Indifference                                | 3  |
| Is An “Accident” Really An Accident?.....                             | 3         |
| Unaware Of Costs And Potential Savings.....                           | 3         |
| Examples Of Successful Programs.....                                  | 4         |
| Not My Responsibility .....   | 4         |
| Avoiding Accidents Is Merely "Common Sense" .....                     | 4         |
| IV Getting Support For Off-The-Job Safety In Your Organization | 4  |
| Selling Off-The-Job Safety .....                                      | 4         |
| V Planning Your Program  | 5  |
| The Steering Committee.....   | 5         |
| Loss Exposure Identification.....                                     | 6         |
| Selecting Off-The-Job Safety Topics.....                              | 6         |
| Guidelines For Effective Programs .....                               | 6         |
| VI Implementing Your Program                                   | 6  |
| Project Teams.....  | 6         |
| Other Topics.....   | 7         |
| Conducting A Campaign .....   | 7         |
| Table 2: Types Of Off-The-Job Safety Programs .....                   | 7         |
| Safety Circles .....  | 8         |
| Personal Safety Programs.....   | 9         |
| VII Conclusion   | 10 |
| Exhibits   |           |
| Exhibit 1: Off-The-Job Accidents Cost Study                           |           |
| Exhibit 2: What Do Off-The-Job Accidents Cost Your Organization?      |           |
| Exhibit 3: Possible Off-The-Job Safety Topics                         |           |